REPEAL IS A WINNER

The Senate at Last Agrees to a

PEFFER'S AMENDMENT LOST

Voorhees' Salutitute for the Wilson Bill is Agreed to by a Big Majority. Now for the Final Test.

WASHISOTON, Oct. 27 .- Mr. Voorhees this afternoon drove a nail through the parliamentary condition of the repeal hill and clinched it on the other side. thereby preventing any possible action looking to the substitution of the Wilson hill for his own, as had been suggested might be done. The afternoon had worn along pretty late when the floance committee chairman at the conclusion of Mr. Jones' speech called up the free coinage amendment of Mr. Peffer and after a little parieying and a brief statement by Mr. Feller, secured a vote which defeated it by a majority of eleven, the vote being 20 to 28. As soon as that was done Mr. Voorheenseized the opportunity to arrange his legislative signal lights and give the mate proposition a clear track to the room of the engrowing clark. She senate has been discussing what has been known by courtesy as names bill No. L but in reality the sub-stitute of Mr. Voorbees, the second sec-tion of the bill containing a declaration m favor of a bi-metallic policy. Mr. Voorhees asked the senate to consent that the substitute be voted upon and laid before the senate with the distinct nnoerstanding that it should retain all the rights of the original bill and be subject to amendment at the will of the senute. This was agreed to by the re-markable vote of 57 years to 9 nays, neg-ative being Allen, Bate, Call, Coke, Irby, Kyle, Peder, Rosen and Vance.

Voochees' Bill the Favorite. This vote indicated that the senate bill as a basis of action was overwhelm ingly the favorite of all factions as against the Wilson bill, as it came from the house. The first amendment offered was that of Mr. Ferkins of California. which, in addition to some minor provisions, authorizes the free coinage of the American product of silver, the goverument retaining 30 per cent as seigerament retaining 20 per cent as seng-norage. This is the pending amend-ment and will probably be voted upon soon after Mr. Wolcott makes a few re-marks in the morning. Notice has been given of something like twenty-five amendments and they may be offered one after another. If this is done and each senator presenting them briefly, it is bardly likely that they can be disposed of tomorrow. Much less likely will this be the result if any of the amendments precipitate a discussion, although Mr. venting delay by enforcing rule 8, which permits that one speech by any senator on any question, and that limited to five minutes. Some senators, however, deny that rule 8 can be applied to it. If the hees may ask the senate to remain until 8 o'clock in the evening, but such a contragency is improbable.

sub-titute to the house bill, with the un estateding that it would then be treated as the original measure, open to an amendment. After some discussion of his request it was conceded, and the vote was accordingly taken on the substitute. It was agreed to: Yeas, 57; mays, 9, the negative votes being given by Messra Allen, Bate, Call, Coke, Irby, Kyte, Poffer, Houch and Vance.

The substitute as agreed to strikes out the whole of the house bill and inserts in lieu of it the toilowing: "That so much of the act approved July 14, 1850, equitied an act directing the purchase of sitter builton and issue of treasury notes thereon, and for other purposes, and directs the secretary of the treasury to purchase from time to time silver builton to the aggregate amount of 5,500,000 ounces, or so much thereof as may be offered, in each month at the market price thereof, not excerting one dollar for three hundred and seventy-one and twenty-five one-hundredths grains of pure silver, and to issue in payment for such purchases treasury notes of the United States, be and the same is hereby repealed. And it is hereby declared to be the policy of the United States to continue the use of both gold and silver as standard money, and to coin both gold and silver into money of equal intrinsic and exchangeable value, such equality to be secured through international agreement or by such safeguards of legislation as will insure the maintenance of parity in value of coins of the two metals, and the equal power of every dollar at all times in the markets and in the payment of debta. And it is further deciared, that the efforts of the government should be steadily directed to the establishment of debta. And it is further declared, that the efforts of the government should be steadily directed to the establishment of such a safe system of bi-metallism as will maintain at all times the equal power of every dollar coined or issued by the United States, in the markets and in the payment of debts.

Mr. Perkins offered an amendment of which he gave notice on October 14. It proposes to open the mints to the coinage of silver of proved American production at the parity of 16 to 1, with a minting or seigniorage charge of 20 per cent which is to be paid into the treas-ury. No gold pieces of a less denomina-tion than $19 are to be coined. Silver dollars may be exchanged at the treaslegal tender notes to be coined. A commission of five monetary experts is to be apcongress and the executive advised of all necessary matters relating to the currency. Mr. Perkins addressed the senate at some length in explanation and advocacy of his amendment.

Mr. Stewart commented sarcastically on the change which had taken place in the views of senators since last spring, when the bill to repeal the Sherman act was voted down. Among the senators was voted down. Among the senators who had voted against it then and who now supported uncondition repeal, he mentioned the names of Mesers. Voor-hees, Gordon, Ramson, Hill, Mills, Turpie and Squire.

Mr. Allen expressed his regret to witness the backdown on the part of the senators who favored the free coinage of

Mr. Teller said that he would vote for the pending amendment, although he had not favored the exclusive coinage of American silver. Still, if it passed, it would be some relief to the silver producing states, and a great relief to the people of the United States. He deciared that he was not cast down nor dejected, but he did not disguise the fact that the people of his state were about to go "through the valley of the shadow of death." He knew well it would turn over 20,000 silver miners out of work in the fall of the year. The iron would enter into their souls. Mr. Teller spoke with great bitterness on the de sertion of the silver cause by some sen-ators. "Mr. President," he said, "this is the most terrible moment of my legislative life. To me it brings more fear than any other moment since I entered public life. What do I fear, Mr. President? I fear that we are entering on a financial system from which there is absolutely no escape. I know that some senators on the other bill is out of the way, they will introduce other bills looking to the rehabilitation of silver. Mr. President, I have no hope in that direction. I know as certainly as I stand here that there will be no favorable legislation for silver until the American people are heard from at the ballot hox, and heard from in a way that will compel attention to their desires. Mr. Welcott rose and addressed the chair; but on Mr. Voorhees inquiry whether he would not prefer to speak tomorrow he assented; and then, on Mr. Voorhees' motion, the senate at 5:40 took a recess till 11 o'clock tomorrow.

Washington, Oct. 27.—The president today sent to the senate the following nominations, Postmasters: Michigan Thomas R. Kvie, Tecumsel; Alphonse Brown, Frankfort, Indiana Situs J. Brandon, Auburn; Lucius O. Bishop, Clinton; Patrick Dillon, Haughville.

TO OUST MR. LINTON

Weadock Wants His Seat Given to Mr. Youmans

CLAIMING A. P. A. DEFEATED HIM

drawn Until Mr. Linton Be Given a Chance to Defend.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.-In the house today Mr. Weldock desired to introduce a privileged resolution. It directed an investigation into the right of Mr. Linton, who represented the eighth district of that state, to a seat in the house in the name of the contestant, Henry M. Youmana. He declared that the election of the sitting member was com-passed with the influence of an organ-ized society operating in Michigan and soveral other western states. He asked that the right of Henry M. Youmans to the seat occupied by Mr. Linton be in-quired into, and that if found entitled to it, the former should be declared a member of the house. The election of member of the house. The election of the sitting member was illegal and in-valid. He suggested that there should be an investigation into the existence and animus of the society which had been instrumental insending Mr. Linton to the house a society which was un-American, illegal, and under the laws of American, illegal, and under the laws of Michigan a traitorous organization. It was a society existing, in the state of Michigan and other western states, whose existence was a mennee to the states and subversive of the prosperity and welfare of the people. It was a society which had gone to the extent of ordering a large supply of arms and ammunition.

Weadock Called Down. Mr. Hopkips - Mr. Speaker, the gen-tleman is out of order. He has no right to stand on this floor and arraign any lawful society or organization. He calls this society traiterous and illegal, and I make the point of order that it is not a question of personal privilege under the rules of this house. There is nothing in the granting of a personal privilege which gives him the right to make such which gives him the right to make such statements as he is indulging in. I make the point of order that his resolution is not of personal privilege, and I move it he referred to the committee on privileges and elections.

The speaker overruled the point of order and stated that it was permissible for the gentleman of Michigan to ask an inquiry of the right for any gentleman to a seat is the house.

Mr. Wesdock thereupon took up his attack on the A. P. A., but his remarks were lost in the storm which broke about his head, in which Mr. Hopkins and Mr. Dingley took a prominent part. When

MOB RIOT IN BOSTON

Italians Attack the Police With Stilettos and Dirks.

THIRTY-FIVE MEN WOUNDED

Attempt to Rescue a Prisoner Foiled and Mob Clubbed Into Submission and Bioters Arrested.

Boston, Oct. 27 .- There was a riot of so small proportions in the Italian quarter of the city this afternoon and stilettos, ciulm and razors figured quite prominently, live men being seriously wounded while fully thirty-live others were more or less injured. In North Square, a small plans in the most thickly populated portion of the north end, where swarmed the Italian, Hebrews and Greeks, with a scattering of a dozen other nationalities, all was quiet in the other nationalities, all was quiet in the afternoon when Potrolman Lock, in passing on the sidewalk, saw Frank Sagges, an Italian, under the influence of liquor and attempted to arrest him. In less than three minutes the square was alive with excited Italians, all seeking the life of the officer, and a riot ensued. An infuriated crowd of Italians rushed down upon him in an attempt to rescue the prisoner, a dozen or more of the leaders brandishing stillettes and dirks. Women screaming at the top of their voices in Italians from windows urged on the leaders, and when ten patrolmen appeared on the scene in a hurry-up appeared on the scene in a hurry up wagon they were clubbing their way to where Patrolman Lock and Andrew S. Fairbairn, a city patrolman and former officer at the Last Cambridge jail, had Sagges pinned against a building.

Closed in on Him. half dozen of the mob closed in on Fairbairn and several plunged their murderous blades in his back. Police reinforcements were soon the scene and the officers, now numbering fifty, charged on the mob and fought their way through to where the prisoner was, clubbing the rioters right and left. The Italian shouted, "Kill the officers," "Down with them," but the officers charge broke the mob, and they made a number of arrests, including them. Domineo Alfonso, who is said to have been one of the men, who stabbed Fair-bairn. Safael Scarmella and Manuel forcerto, all leaders in the riot, each the severe scalp wounds. At least thirty five persons were reported later at the statism as wounded in the fight, though none are in a serious condition. In the melee Dennis Sullivan and John Herney, street department employes, received several knife wounds and James Wright, a furniture dealer, was seriously

SHIP ABLAZE IN MID-OCEAN. Narrow Escape of Gellert and Her

New York, Oct. 27 .- Another narrow escape from an awful ocean disaster de-veloped today when the steamship Gel-lert arrived from Hamburg and safely larded her 405 passengers. The Gellert left Hamburg October 1d, and fared well so far as wind and sea are concerned. At midnight on Sunday, October 22, however, fire was discovered aft, directly under the first-class saloon and amid bales of bed feathers, barrels, toys and other goods. The captain was hastily notified and all hands were ordered on deck. An examination showed that the smoke from the fire came out of the ventilators that enter the steerage. The ventilators and all other openings were tightly closed and streams of water turned into the steerage and lower hold. Steam was also turned on and every effort made to extinguish the fire. Not withstanding the perilous situation in ment among them. The cabin passen-gers removed their effects from the after part of the vessel and the cabin deck

Then the lifeboats were made ready for use and every preparation made to leave the burning ship if it became necessary. The engines were stopped so as to avoid any draught and the great vessel rolled lazily along with variable winds and a moderate sea. An attempt was made to locate the fire by cutting holes from the cabindeck to the steer age, but this had to be abandoned on ac ount of the dense smoke which rolled through the openings. An attempt to descend from the outer deck to the fire by way of the main hatch was also given up on the same account. Then all openings were closed to await daylight. The next morning several attempts were made to enter the steerage, but without success. It was found that the temperature in the saloon was rapidly increas ing, but this fact was kept from the passengers as long as possible. The carpets were removed and thoroughly soaked to be used in keeping the decks cool. A few hours after daylight on Monday smoke was discovered coming through the seams of the deck. After a while the efforts of the officers and crew were crowned with success, the exact location streams of water were turned directly on the fire. Lines of bose were run through holes in the saloon deck and all day Meeday and throughout the night water was con-stantly thrown into the burning steerage. On Tuesday morning the steerage om was entered by way of the main hatch and by noon the fire was extinguished. The burned cargo was thrown overboard so as to run no risk of a re-currence of the fire and when the last piece was cast into the sea and all danger past a mighty cheer went up from passengers and crew. The cause of the fire was spontaneous combustion.
